Disney PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN AT WORLD'S END

Pirates from all over the world must come together and rise up against the East India Trading Company. The time to fight is now and the stakes have never been so high. Sworn enemies will forge new alliances but betrayal, plots and counter-plots create twists that make the sea even harder to navigate!

Sail to the edge of the world with the Pirates of the Caribbean At World's End collection!

Norrington

Although not a pirate himself, Norrington certainly can be a crumming! Obsession with capturing Jack led to his downfall once, but Norrington climbed out of the depths of despair and now serves under Sir Cutler Beckett's command. Where Norrington will end up this time around is anyone's guess!

Figures sold separately.

Gibbs, Captain Jack Sparrow, Marty, Tai Huang, Will Turner, Captain Sao Feng, Elizabeth Swann

Dear Nicky,

I saw your e-mail. Don't worry, I'm not mad. I can see why you would think I'm "inconsistent" and "not much of a team player." I mean, that time I covered for your girlfriend when she had an emergency? Totally selfish of me. And let's not forget the fact that I only called out sick two times in the past 4 years... how inconsistent of me! So yeah, I get it, I'm sorry you feel that way, but that's life, eh? I'm sure this store will be much better off without me. Good luck with everything.

Sincerely,

PS. I'm not coming in tomorrow, because fuck you

If you don't find the meme you want, browse all the GIF Templates or upload and save your own animated template using the GIF Maker. Note that cartoons originally released back to 1935 were reissued cutting Schlesinger's name, thus having this ending card. The "That's all, folks!" script writes itself on the bullseye rings before it fades out to black. Can I use the generator for more than just memes? At the post-credits of Space Jam, Bugs, Daffy and Porky argue on whose role to say the "That's all, folks!" line (Bugs firsts says that line, but Porky reprimands him that's his line, but just as Porky is about to say the "That's all, folks!" line, Daffy arrogantly interrupts Porky, only to get knocked off the bullseye rings by the Nerdlocks who perfectly say "That's all, folks!" all in unison). People often use the generator to customize established memes, such as those found in Imgflip's collection of Meme Templates. After the iris out, the "That's all, folks!" title card appears, rewritten, and the firecracker exploding off-screen, shaking the on-screen title card. In 1934, starting with "Those Beautiful Dames", a jester would announce the "That's all, folks!" sign off for every Merrie Melodies cartoon up to "Flowers for Madame". The ending title card of "Little Go Beep" has baby Wile E. "Hush My Mouse" was the last cartoon to use this sign off. Eventually, he gives up and angrily says "Eh-h-h-h, go home, folks." An alternative scene found on the DVD release shows Tweety being turned into a pterodactyl and about to eat Mr. Chairman his final words being "Th-th-th-that's all folks." At the end of Bah, Humduck! A Looney Tunes Christmas, both father and daughter Porky Pig and Priscilla Pig finish the movie by saying Porky's famous line: "T-T-T-That's all folks!", albeit the latter saying it without the former's stutter. It was first used by Bosko and more commonly by Porky Pig in the Golden Age of Animation, before the standard script logo on the bullseye color rings came to use. "Boulder Wham!" ends with Wile E. Add text, images, stickers, drawings, and spacing using the buttons beside your meme canvas. At the end of Bugs Bunny's 3rd Movie: 1001 Rabbit Tales after it writes "That's all, folks!" then added "Merrie Melodies Reg. The ending of Daffy Duck's debut cartoon, "Porky's Duck Hunt", depicts the duck frolicking around a rewritten "That's all, folks!" end card. Variations At the ending of "Milk and Money", Mr. Viper is seen directly under the "That's all, folks!" script as it writes itself. However, you can also upload your own templates or start from scratch with empty templates. This change stuck until the series ended in 1969. After all, it's only a cartoon. Looney Tunes Back in Action ends with Porky attempting to say his catchphrase, only to hesitate when the lights turn off. Yes! The Meme Generator is a flexible tool for many purposes. "Whoa, Be-Gone!" ends with the Road Runner pulling down the "That's all, folks!" end card, pre-signed. "Guided Muscle" ends with Wile E. Enable drag/drop & resize Use resolution of original template image, do not resize. It wasn't until 1936 that both series started to use the now-famous script sign-off. You can customize the font color and outline color next to where you type your text. Why yes, we do. After Daffy says the slogan, the back of the WB shield (which credits "Title Animation Written and Directed by CHUCK JONES") smashes him. The Looney Tunes Show featured its own variations on the gag. At the end of Daffy Duck's Movie: Fantastic Island, The Well is saying "And now I say, without the jokes, Th-th-th-th-That's all, Folks," which he imitates Porky Pig. For designing from scratch, try searching "empty" or "blank" templates. Imgflip supports all fonts installed on your device including the default Windows, Mac, and web fonts, including bold and italic. Wile E.'s fang then shines with a twinkle. "Two Crows from Tacos" had the "That's all, folks!" script, the Merrie Melodies logo, and "A Warner Bros. In the end of 'The Major Lied 'Til Dawn', the elephant says to the audience "That's all, folks!" then the "Merrie Melodies" and "Produced By Leon Schlesinger" credits appear at the top and bottom of the screen as a fast version of the Merrie Melodies ending theme music plays over it. In 1933, Buddy became the star of Tinker Bell from Disney's Peter Pan sprinkling pixie dust on it. "Box Office Bunny" ends with Bugs trapping Daffy and Elmer in a slasher movie and, afterwards, watching their predicament in the cinema while eating popcorn. Do you have a wacky AI that can write memes for me? Despite that, the Merrie Melodies reverted to the early 1936 Looney Tunes design in "Katnip Kollege" and eventually evolved slowly. You can create "meme chains" of multiple images stacked vertically by adding new images with the "below current image" setting. Starting in 1964 (beginning with "Señorella and the Glass Huarache"), the opening and closing titles were redesigned and the phrase was dropped for both series. "Hare Tonic" and "Baseball Bugs" end with Bugs Bunny drumming over the Looney Tunes drum to say "And that's the end!" A few Blue Ribbon Merrie Melodies reissues from 1952-1953, such as "The Bashful Buzzer!" and "Daffy Doodles", replaced "That's all, folks!" with a generic "The Bashful Buzzer!" and "Daffy Doodles", respectively. "That's all, folks!" with a generic "The Bashful Buzzer!" card with no animation. At the post-credits of "Invasion of the Bunny Snatchers", a creepy-looking, Monty Python-esque impostor of Porky Pig pops out of the drum temporarily distorted "Th-Th-Th-That's all, folks!" When Bugs see this, he angrily kicks away the Porky impostor and puts the real Porky Pig into the broken drum. Potentially higher quality, but larger filesize. However, the Merrie Melodies had a different first design with a lowercase "f" instead of an uppercase "F" in "Folks". Then Michael Jordan saying a very pulled up the title card like a shade and asks the audience "Can I go home now?" before pulling the title card back to its original position. By uploading custom images and using all the customizations, you can design many creative works including posters, banners, advertisements, and other custom graphics. After the cartoon irises out and the title card finishes with it's ending credits as normal, Daffy and Elmer break out through the title card, screaming and running for their lives. The real Porky then ends the cartoon with his signature "Th-Th-Th-That's all, folks!" line. You can insert popular or custom stickers and other images including scumbag hats, deal-with-it sunglasses, speech bubbles, and more. You can rotate, flip, and crop any templates you upload. His cartoons ended with him running in front of a sign reading "A Looney Tune" and saying, "That's all, folks!" The Merrie Melodies of the same time would feature the star of the cartoon running in front of a drum reading "A Merrie Melody", only they would say "So long, folks!" Unlike Looney Tunes, these would change with every cartoon until 1934. Hit "Generate Meme" and then choose how to share and save your meme. You can use one of the popular templates, search through more than 1 million user-uploaded templates using the search input, or hit "Upload new template" to upload your own template to the finalized "That's all, folks!" version which is being used today. Looney Tunes: Rabbits Run ends with the "That's all, folks!" script writing itself above the rings in yellow, after which Porky pops out of the bullseye and says his signature sign-off ("Th-Th-That's all, folks!"), only for him to find Daffy having walked in on the set with a corn dog in his hand. He peeks his head out to the left side and says, "Fade out!" and the segment ends. Bugs appears in the hole of the broken card and smiles to the camera as he says "And that's all, folks!" At the post-credits of Gremlins 2: The New Batch, Porky comes out of the rings and says his usual "Th-th-th-that's all, folks!" line, but Daffy interrupts him and takes over. U.S. Pat. In 1935, Buddy was dropped, and Beans began signing off with the phrase. The Looney Tunes and Merrie Melodies adapted different designs for the script sign-off. At the end of the movie, as the signoff starts writing itself, Bugs pops out to stop it. The Looney Tunes shorts depicted the text being written on a black background (starting with "The Phantom Ship"), while the Merrie Melodies had it written over the bullseye (starting with "I Wanna Play House"). As an instrumental version of "The Merry-Go-Round Broke Down" played in the background, Porky Pig would pop out of a drum and say "Th-th-that's all, folks!" This was used until 1946, when the Looney Tunes series too adopted the standard script logo on the bullseye like Merrie Melodies. Coyote holding a sign saying "That's all, folks!" before plummeting into the canyon one last time. It then erases and writes itself as "That's not quite all, folks!", and Bugs starts the ending credits. You can draw, outline, or scribble on your meme using the panel just above the meme preview image. Eventually, the Looney Tunes would adapt to the early Merrie Melodies design starting with "Porky's Moving Day" and would remain with this design up to "Porky's Garden". Porky Pig returned to signing off the Larry Doyle-produced Looney Tunes in 2003. At the end of Fritz Freleng's Looney Looney Bugs Bunny Movie, Bugs first does the "That's all, folks!" send-off, but then Porky tells Bugs that it was his line.
